Material Aspects:

CITADEL SECURITIES LLC:
MDB Capital does not receive payment for order flow for "held" orders. Such orders are intended to be immediately represented in the market and executed as soon as practicable. For orders that a customer gives to an MDB trader with time and/or price discretion over execution, also known as "not held" orders, MDB may receive compensation in the form of liquidity rebates or be charged costs for directing orders to particular broker dealers or market centers for execution.

In deciding where to send an order, MDB looks at a number of factors, such as size of order, trading characteristics of the security, favorable execution prices (including the opportunity for price improvement), access to reliable market data, availability of efficient automated transaction processing, and execution cost. Some market centers may execute orders at prices superior to the publicly quoted market in accordance with their rules and practices. Although you can instruct us to send an order to a particular marketplace, our order-routing policies are designed to result in transaction processing that is favorable for you. MDB reserves the right to wait for the primary exchange to open before commencing trading in a particular security.

MDB makes a reasonable effort to pass through any rebate it receives or cost assessed from order flow activity to the client account. The amount of the compensation depends on the agreement reached with each venue. The source and nature of any compensation received by MDB in connection with any transaction is available upon written request of the customer.
